DESCRIPTION:

The website is about Marvel. Marvel basically is a character based entertainment. The project consists of movies, characters, games, quiz, movie ticket booking system.

In different cinemas, we can book different movies. The website consists of a canvas page where the user can paint different marvel characters. It consists of a hangman game and a thor game.

The homepage consists of facebook, twitter and youtube icons which onclick refreshes the page and reloads the homepage. The homepage consists of a slideshow using webkit, videos, sidepane list.

We have a movie ticket booking page where the user enters his/her details in a form, it allows you to select a seat and make payments.

In the battlefield section, there are games and quizzes. The thor game is uses request animation frame, html and javascript. It uses random function to assign different positions to Loki(character) while the other character has to catch Loki. The hangman uses html and javascript and a random function. Hangman is about guessing the correct movie character name and the user gets only 6 chances to guess otherwise you lose the game.
